DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hallam.

Re claims 1-5, Hallim teaches a promotional calendar comprising a series of pages each imprinted with a respective day of the year and held together to allow turning or tear off of each page, each page printed and distributed.

However, Hallim does not teach wherein each page is prominently printed with the name of a person to personalize the calendar and an enterprise identifier. However, these differences are only found in the non-functional descriptive material and are not functionally involved in the steps recited. The printing and distributing steps would be performed the same regardless of the data. Thus, this descriptive material will not distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art in terms of patentability. See In re Gulack, 703 F.2d 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed. Cir. 1983); In re Lowry, 32 F.3d 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have printed the name of a person on each page to personalize the calendar since it has been held that printed matter that is not functionally related to the substrate does not distinguish the invention from the prior art in terms of patentability.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed November 17, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

It is acknowledged that applicant believes that In re Gulack and In re Lowry are not applicable to the instant rejection. However, the examiner maintains that the limitations directed toward the printed indicia are nonfunctional descriptive material and are not pertinent to the method of promoting an enterprise. In addition to the cases cited above, see also Ex parte Breslow, 192, USPQ 431 (BdPatApp&Int 1975).

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
